
Table of Contents

Dedication	iii
Foreword by Judge Andrew Jay Peck	v
Editors' Note	xv
Introduction by Jason R. Baron	xvii
SEARCHING FOR ESI: SOME PRELIMINARY PERSPECTIVES	1
Chapter 1: The Road to Predictive Coding: Limitations on the Defensibility of Manual and Keyword Searching	5
Tracy D. Drynan and Jason R. Baron
Chapter 2: The Emerging Acceptance of Technology-Assisted Review in Civil Litigation	35
Alicia L. Shelton and Michael D. Berman
PRACTITIONER PERSPECTIVES	59
Chapter 3: A Tour of Technology-Assisted Review	63
Maura R. Grossman and Gordon V. Cormack
Chapter 4: The Mechanics of a Predictive Coding Workflow	95
Vincent M. Catanzaro, Samantha Green, and Sandra Rampersaud
Chapter 5: Reflections on the Cormack and Grossman SIGIR Study: The Folly of Using Random Search for Machine Training	107
Ralph C. Losey
Chapter 6: TAR for the Small and Medium Case	145
William F. Hamilton
Chapter 7: Reality Bites: Why TAR's Promises Have Yet to Be Fulfilled	167
William P. Butterfield and Jeannine M. Kenney

Table of Contents

Chapter 8: Predictive Coding from the Defense Perspective: Issues and Challenges	203
Ronni D. Solomon, Rose J. Hunter-Jones, Jennifer A. Mencken, and Edward T. Logan
Chapter 9: Safeguarding the Seed Set: Why Seed Set Documents May Be Entitled to Work–Product Protection	227
The Hon. John M. Facciola and Philip J. Favro
Chapter 10: Experts on Computer-Assisted Review: Why Federal Rule of Evidence 702 Should Apply to Their Use	269
The Hon. David J. Waxse and Brenda Yoakum-Kriz
Chapter 11: License to Cull: Two-Filter Document Culling Method That Uses Predictive Coding and Other Search Tools	295
Ralph C. Losey
INFORMATION RETRIEVAL PERSPECTIVES; E-DISCOVERY STANDARDS	321
Chapter 12: Defining and Estimating Effectiveness in Document Review	325
David D. Lewis
Chapter 13: Metrics in Predictive Coding	357
William Webber and Douglas W. Oard
Chapter 14: On the Place of Measurement in E-Discovery	375
Bruce Hedin, Dan Brassil, and Amanda Jones
Chapter 15: A Modest Proposal for Preventing e-Discovery Standards from Being a Burden to Practitioners, Clients, the Courts, or Common Sense	419
Gilbert S. Keteltas, Karin S. Jenson, and James A. Sherer

.....

ANALYTICS AND THE LAW	463
Chapter 16: Algorithms at the Gate: Leveraging Predictive Analytics in Mergers, Acquisitions, and Divestitures	467
Jeffrey C. Sharer and Robert D. Keeling
Chapter 17: The Larger Picture: Moving Beyond Predictive Coding for Document Productions to Predictive Analytics for Information Governance	489
Sandra Serkes
Chapter 18: Predictive Analytics for Information Governance in a Law Firm: Mitigating Risks and Optimizing Efficiency	507
Leigh Isaacs
Chapter 19: Finding the Signal in the Noise: Information Governance, Analytics, and the Future of Legal Practice	525
Bennett B. Borden and Jason R. Baron
Chapter 20: Preparing for the Near Future: Deep Learning and Law	557
Kathryn Hume
Appendix: The Grossman-Cormack Glossary of Technology-Assisted Review	571
Maura R. Grossman and Gordon V. Cormack
Editor and Author Bios	607
Table of Cases	629
Index	639