

About the Author

William Kruse, Gallup's Regulatory Compliance Officer and in-house legal counsel, works primarily with Gallup's government clients in the United States and around the world. He is also a board member of Gallup's government contracting subsidiary and the legal advisor to Gallup's Institutional Review Board. He is a litigation and regulatory compliance attorney with nine years of experience in US acquisition regulations, contracting, and procurement.

Prior to joining Gallup's legal team, Mr. Kruse worked for a litigation firm based in St. Louis, Missouri, where he handled railroad and maritime disputes as well as multidistrict litigation involving toxic torts.

Mr. Kruse is a member of the American Bar Association (ABA) and has served as chair of the Tort Trial and Insurance Practice Section (TIPS) Corporate Counsel Committee. He is also a member of the ABA TIPS Corporate Counsel Outreach Task Force and of the ABA TIPS Committee on Outreach to Young Lawyers.

Mr. Kruse is the author of several articles published in legal and business publications, including the International In-House Counsel Journal and Ethikos. He has presented at legal and business conferences, meetings, teleconferences, and webinars on a range of topics including procurement, white-collar and corporate crime, ethics and compliance, and business codes of conduct.

Mr. Kruse received his bachelor's degree in business from the University of Missouri–St. Louis and his juris doctorate from Florida International University. He attended law school while serving on active duty in the US Coast Guard, graduating seventh in his class.