

About the Curator and Editor

Stewart Levine is the founder of ResolutionWorks, a consulting and training organization dedicated to providing skills and ways of thinking needed to build strong organizational cultures. He spent ten years practicing law before becoming an award-winning marketing executive serving the legal profession at AT&T, where he was recognized as a pioneer “intrapreneur.” He uses his approach to form teams and joint ventures in a variety of situations. Stewart has worked with large and small law firms, legal departments, and government agencies across the country.

Stewart served on the Council of the American Bar Association Law Practice Management Division where he was Chair of the Education Board 2000–2003. He was a founding editorial member of the ABA Law Practice Management Ezine, where he wrote a monthly column, “Management By Agreement,” from 2003 to 2008. He was featured in an article about “Trend Setters” in the legal profession in Law Practice Magazine. He has served on the ABA Diversity and Inclusion Committee since 2003 and was appointed to the Publications Board in 2015 and the Lawyer Wellness and Leadership and Management Committees in 2016.

His book, Getting to Resolution: Turning Conflict into Collaboration (Berrett-Koehler, 1998, 2009), was called a “must read” by Law Practice Management Magazine. It was an Executive Book Club Selection; featured by Executive Book Summaries; named one of the 30 Best Business Books of 1998; endorsed by Dr. Stephen Covey, author of Seven Habits of Highly Effective People; and featured in The Futurist magazine. It was a finalist for the 2009 Center for Public Resources book of the year. The Book of Agreement (Berrett-Koehler, 2003) has been called more practical than the classic Getting to Yes and named among the best books of 2003 by CEO Refresher. Stewart also co-authored Collaboration 2.0 (HappyAbout, 2008) and is a frequent contributor to Legal Publications.

Stewart is an Honors graduate of Rutgers Law School, where he was the Student Writing Editor of the Law Review. He served as a Deputy Attorney General for the State of New Jersey and was a Law and Humanities Fellow at Temple Law School, where he was a law teacher; he was also a member of the faculty at the University of California Berkeley Law School. In October 2010, Stewart was inducted into the College of Law Practice Management.
